Foreign Settlement in Yokohama Completely Destroyed; American Consul and Family Among Dead

British Consul Also Killed, According to Advices Today — Devastation Wrought in Tokio Declared to Be Even Worse — Rioting and Looting Add to Terrors of Quake, Fire and Flood — Prince Matsukata, Wife and Son Killed.

200,000 KILLED AND INJURED IN TOKIO ALONE

OSAKA, Japan, Sept. 4.—The foreign settlement at Yokohama was completely destroyed by the earthquake Saturday. The American consulate collapsed, killing the American consul and his wife. The British consul was also killed. The destruction by quakes, fire and floods at Tokio was even more appalling.

First official reports, issued today, declared 200,000 were killed and injured in the capital alone.

Rioting has broken out in Tokio, adding to the horrors of the flames. The population is in need of food. Koreans are reported to be taking a leading part in pillaging and looting and martial law, which was proclaimed after the disaster, has been extended.

The burden of the tragedy is being borne by royalty as well as the starving masses. Prince Matsukata, succumbed today to injuries received when his house tumbled upon him at Kamakura. The princess and her son also were killed. The whereabouts of other royalty is unknown and they are feared to have perished.

Terrible scenes were reported from Yokohama. The main part of the city is completely destroyed, with the city hall, Grand Hotel and the Specie Bank in ruins. The harbor is cluttered with wreckage, many ships having collided. The breakwater was destroyed. Many ships, loaded to the danger point with refugees, have put to sea.

Hakone is believed to have been completely destroyed. Many Japanese nobles and foreign residents, who were staying at mountain hotels, probably escaped. There was heavy damage to the great mountainous tidal waves at Kamakura and other noted sea resorts which were hard hit, but owing to the lack of communication the exact extent of the destruction is unknown.

For 10 hours after the catastrophe airplane observation and attempts to communicate with the stricken cities by airplane were useless owing to the density of the smoke. This lack of authentic information caused many unfounded rumors.

The new premier, Yamamoto, was falsely reported to have been assassinated by a Korean. Yamamoto's cabinet, which he organized while the city was burning, has received royal sanction. It held its first meeting and made preparations for emergency relief measures, requisitioned supplies and took other steps.

All available warships and steamers have been ordered to participate in relief. They must bear the brunt of transportation service, as the railways are disorganized.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 1.—A wireless message received here at 12:52 o'clock this morning by the Radio Corporation of America from Tokio, Japan, follows:

"Correspondent reports from Oyama, metropolitan reports announce houses burned number 300,000, casualties 500,000. One regiment infantry, one battalion engineers, of the Imperial Guard Division are guarding the Imperial Palace."

PEKIN, Sept. 4.—Tokio, is still burning. Fresh scenes of horror are enacted on every side. Dead bodies are heaped everywhere. Imperial guards are blasting the remaining buildings in the hope of turning the advancing wall of flames from the royal palace.

Pekin does not estimate the casualties, but advices from Osaka indicate much uncertainty as to the number of dead. One dispatch fixed the total at 300,000 while others said there were only 2,500 killed.

One thousand persons in Tokio who escaped the earthquake and fire that followed have committed suicide by drowning, insane with grief.

In Tokio and Yokohama less than 48 hours' food supply remains and many thousands are suffering from lack of drinking water. Engineers are doing their utmost to repair the mains and reservoirs.

The flames approached the Tokio rail and fearing that nearly 1,000 prisoners would be roasted alive the officials released them. Many of the Koreans immediately started looting. Koreans are also reported to be looting in bands, and the Tokio police frustrated. The Koreans were attempting to seize Socialists and other malcontents. They were expelled and the martial law under which Tokio was held since Saturday has been tightened.

The first eye witness account of the disaster along the Pacific coast of Japan and the appalling loss of life and scenes of destruction in Tokio and Yokohama on Saturday was brought to Osaka, more than 200 miles south of Tokio by the Tokio correspondent of the Osaka Mainichi. The correspondent made his way out of the burning and shaken city Saturday afternoon, during the height of the catastrophe. His story follows:

OSAKA, Japan, Sept. 4.—My last sight of Tokio was at 3 P. M. Saturday. At that time in the midst of unchecked fire and repeated shock I saw people vainly trying to reach safety, headless of hundreds of bodies in the streets. The disaster continued on Page Two.

Red Cross to Ask Nation for Five Millions

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—The American Red Cross will ask the Nation to subscribe $5,000,000 for Japanese relief.

The plan approved today by President Coolidge at a conference with Red Cross officials and Herbert Hoover, an expert in relief work, will be put into effect by distributing to cities and states as was done in war times.

A detailed announcement will be issued later. Meanwhile telegrams have gone to Red Cross chapters preparing them to organize the relief fund campaign.

The Connelville Public Schools opened today with one of the heaviest first day enrollments in the history of the city. The total announced by Superintendent Bela B. Smith this afternoon is not exact but it is close enough to give a fair estimate of the number to be educated here this term.

A total of 3,051 were enrolled this morning in the various assembly and class rooms. The High School had an enrollment of 1,150. In the senior class alone in that school there are nearly 200 students, the heaviest school enrollment ever listed in school annals here.

Enrollment in other buildings follows: Cameron School, 585; Crawford School, 405; South Side, 394; Third Ward, 275; Second Ward, 262. The Parochial schools opened yesterday.

J. R. Shives Is Fatally Hurt in Motor Accident

Trotter Man Dies at Hospital Soon After Hickory Bottom Collision.

FOUR OTHERS ARE HURT

In the second collision within a week at the cross roads at Hickory Bottom, which occurred Saturday evening when automobiles driven by Edward Lyons of the White-Lyons Motor Company and J. R. Shives of Trotter collided, one man was killed and four other occupants of the cars were injured.

The dead man is Robert G. Shives, 30 years old, of Trotter. He had been an employee of the H. C. Frick Coke Company for 42 years. He was pinned under one of the cars and rendered unconscious. A passing automobile rushed him to the Cottage State Hospital where death occurred at 8:25 o'clock. He suffered a broken neck, fractured skull and a broken jaw-bone.

Lyons was driving the car of Zeke Pike of Star Junction. He had taken it out to determine why the motor was not running correctly and was returning when the collision occurred. The other car was returning to Trotter following a short after supper trip.

According to Lyons he thought the Shives machine was going to stop to give him the right of way. He said he could have stopped his own car but when he thought the other machine intended hitting he continued running ahead. In order to avoid striking the other car his own machine rammed the water trough on the corner.

Lyons was thrown out of the machine. He landed on his back. As he fell he saw a baby hurtling through the air and with quick presence of mind grasped it in both hands. The baby escaped injury. Just before the collision the victim of the wreck had been holding the child in his lap. It was his grandson, Robert.

All other occupants of the Shives machine were also thrown out. Both father and son were pinned beneath the rear of the Joseph Andy, also of Trotter, another occupant of the Shives car, received scalp wounds, striking the back of his head. Mrs. Shives was injured about the neck and shoulders.

Pike was thrown out of the other machine, alighting on his head. He was in a dazed condition for a time. Lyons was badly bruised.

Passing automobiles took the elder Mr. Shives, his son and Andy to the hospital while the mother and baby were taken to their home in other machines. Lyons and Pike were brought to the city, the former later returning to the scene himself and bringing both damaged cars to the garage. Shives and Andy left the hospital yesterday.

Lyons was just leaving the garage to go home for his evening meal when Pike drove up and asked to have his car looked at. It was still daylight and after going out the road a short distance Lyons remedied the defect. They were returning when the wreck occurred. Mr. Lyons says he was driving at about 25 or 30 miles an hour at the time.

Robert G. Shives was born at Hancock, Md., on May 27, 1893 and spent Continued on Page Two.

U. S. Embassy Destroyed, Ambassador Woods, Family And Personnel All Safe

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—Cyrus E. Woods, American ambassador to Japan, and the whole personnel of the American embassy in Tokio are safe. Woods notified the State Department today.

Woods' message said the embassy was totally destroyed by the earthquake. It was very brief and did not disclose whether any of the other Americans in Tokio or Yokohama were victims of the disaster.

Today's message from Woods was the first received from any American government representative in Japan since the disaster. More detailed advices were expected later in the day.

DEMONSTRATION BY KLAN PASSES WITHOUT INCIDENT

Thousands of Members of Organization Assemble Near Scottdale.

MARCH WITHOUT ROBES

SCOTSDALE, Sept. 4.—Saturday night's demonstration by the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, consisting of a parade through the streets and the initiation of several hundred candidates and the burning of a cross on the Byron Kelly farm a mile from town, passed off without untoward incident. It was estimated that several thousand members of the Klan came from adjoining states and Western Pennsylvania to participate in the festivities.

The klansmen who paraded the streets were minus hoods and robes. Scheduled by means of handbills to pass through the town at 8 o'clock, it was nearly 11 o'clock when the line was seen approaching. Thousands of persons lined the streets. They came for miles to witness the demonstration.

Saturday morning early, trucks began hauling refreshments of various kinds to the Kelly farm and later machines carrying klansmen began arriving from Ohio, New York and neighboring states, numbering at least 400, and were parked in the field. Immediately after the noon hour more cars began arriving. All roads led to Scottdale. There was a continuous stream of automobiles. Never had Scottdale had so many visitors on the evening. Trails and along with them came crowds upon crowds each time a West Penn car reached the town. Even before 7 o'clock the streets became so crowded that one was almost forced to move with the crowd to get along. Persons who had come out of curiosity to see the parade could find no place to park along the streets as those who had come earlier found the parking places. It was necessary to keep driving.

Early in the afternoon state police began arriving in uniform and armed with riot guns and clubs. Deputy sheriffs were out in force.

The parade was one of the largest ever held in Scottdale. At its head was the American flag, the color guard and the Scottdale Band.

Following the parade the initiations were held and between 1:30 and 2 o'clock the cross was burned, winding up the festivities of the night.

Registrars Will Be At Polls Until 10 O'Clock Tonight

Former Connellsville People in Tokio; News From Them Is Lacking

American Navy Rushes Supplies To Quake Victims

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—Speed and effectiveness with which American naval units are being concentrated for relief of the Japanese disaster victims was shown in dispatches to the Navy Department today from Admiral Anderson, commander of the Asiatic fleet.

He notified the department he is speeding from Cebu, in Chinese waters, to Yokohama, aboard his flagship Huron with all available food and medical supplies. The destroyer tender Black Hawk he has sent to Tsing Tao, China, for supplies and it will go thence to Yokohama.

Concern is felt for the safety of a number of former Connellsville persons in Tokio. Among them are Rev. and Mrs. W. D. Cunningham and their son, Bobby, whose home is in the Yotsuya district, just across the street from one of the imperial palaces. No word has come from the Cunningham family.

Periods here entertain the hope that Rev. and Mrs. Cunningham have been spending the summer in the mountain districts of Japan, according to their custom, and have thereby escaped the danger in the section devastated by the earthquake. It is possible, however, that their home and the church and school established by them in Tokio have been completely destroyed.

Three of the family were outside Japan when the quake caused its destruction. Ruth, a daughter, was on the Pacific on her way to America. She sailed August 22. She plans to enter a college in Kentucky. Miss Eloise and Doris Cunningham, also daughters, have been in the United States for some time. Following the completion of their college courses they spent the summer pursuing special work in New York.

Mention has been made in press dispatches of the destruction of the imperial palace, but whether this is the one near the home of the Cunningham family is "doubtful."

Mrs. Cunningham is a sister of Mrs. B. M. Swartzwelder and Mrs. Ralph Porter of Connellsville.

In Tokio also are Rev. and Mrs. I. G. Nace, formerly of Connellsville. Rev. Nace was for several years pastor of Trinity Reformed Church. He and Mrs. Nace are now engaged in missionary work among the inhabitants of the Japanese capital.

Ira Fisher, formerly of Dunbar, and brother of Mrs. Ira Jaynes of Greensburg, is a missionary in Tokio, and recently returned from a furlough spent in Connellsville. Dunbar and Adrian, Mich. He was expected to arrive in Tokio on August 30 and had intended to go to a mountain resort. Mr. Fisher is a grandson of James McVey of Dunbar.

Herbert Joy of Isabella road was arrested Saturday afternoon by a United States marshal at Killbuck Park, Indian Creek Valley, where he was employed, on the charge of embezzlement of funds from the Indian Creek Postoffice, while he was postmaster there. It is alleged he took the money, the amount not made known, about August 1.

Joy was taken to Pittsburgh (the same day and was given a preliminary hearing before Commissioner Knox, his bail being fixed at $1,500. Joy was unable to furnish bail.

TUESDAY EVENING, SEP. 4, 1935

SERVE NO GOOD PURPOSE

The people who want to Scotland Saturday night and stood around on the streets until nearly midnight to see the much advertised parade of the K. K. Klan were poorly paid for their waste of time and money.

Instead of appearing in their ghost-like garb of flowing white night shirts, high dunces and masks to conceal the features of the wearers, the paraders were in their ordinary everyday attire. The appearance they thus made was not at all awe-inspiring. Instead of exciting fear or similar sensations it moved the spectators to disgust at having expected so much and seen so little. To that extent, and due to the fact that no clash occurred between klanners and anti-klanners as had been anticipated when the instructions, "come prepared," had been issued, made the whole affair so tame as to be disappointing to the curious observers, many of whom expected outbreaks of a more or less serious character.

That there was nothing of the kind speaks well for the people who see in the organization and some of the things it stands for, a menace to the peace and good order of the communities in which it makes its demonstrations in force. The presence of members of the State Police no doubt acted as a deterrent, but the self-restraint of the people and their respect for the law were even more effective than the fact that officers were on the scene ready to quell any disturbance.

It was fortunate in every respect that the parade passed off peacefully. That circumstance ought to serve as a caution to the promoters of such demonstrations. It is not everywhere, and may not be possible again in Scotland, that the same even tempered and self-controlled crowd will gather to witness these spectacular displays. When and wherever made they are an invitation to trouble. Serving no good or useful purpose, as the public looks at it, they should be dispensed with in the interests of the public good.

EFFECT OF STRIKE ON COKE.

From a purely business point of view the strike of the anthracite miners workers will be of more benefit to the Connelville region than to other soft coal fields. This will be true mainly because of the fact that, if the strike is prolonged for any considerable time, there will be a movement on the part of anthracite coal consumers to procure a substitute fuel. The best thus far found is coke, both beehive and by-product, with which many anthracite users are already more or less familiar. In the manufacture of coke the Connelville region is an important factor. It is here that the standard beehive coke of the world has been made for 50 years and from its mines there is produced the best raw material from which to manufacture by-product coke. Anthracite users will, therefore, naturally turn to the Connelville region when the necessity arises to augment their stocks of fuel for the winter.

If the demand for coke for domestic use becomes active the region will feel the stimulus of both over and under production. This demand will probably not assume large proportions for some weeks previous experience having been that anthracite users refrain from ordering a substitute fuel so long as they entertain hope that something may happen to make anthracite available.

This is perhaps more true of the consumers in the east than in the west. At any rate the western dealers, appreciating the disadvantages of the longer haul, have already been making inquiries for domestic coke and now that the strike is actually on, will no doubt begin to place orders. There will probably be a further stiffening of prices in accordance with the law of supply and demand. As recent prices have been unreasonably close the cost of production a reasonable increase will not be out of proportion to the intrinsic value of coke as a fuel. What the ultimate consumer will have to pay will be more determined, however, by the attitude of the local distributing retailers at point of consumption than by the producers in the region. If the retail prices become excessive it will merely be further proof that the public is again being called upon to pay the fiddler while the contending sides in a senseless wage dispute perform another ghost dance.

PENNSYLVANIANS AS TAXPAYERS.

Pennsylvania has rightly won and persistently held a place of large importance in the midst of states. In population, wealth, diversity and richness of natural resources, volume of manufactured products, and in many other particulars essential to greatness, it has always been in the van of progress. It is not surprising, therefore, that its people should have the distinction of collectively forming the second largest group of internal revenue taxpayers, as revealed by the statistics supplied by the commissioner of the bureau.

With $247,130,690 as the amount paid during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1935, which was a trifle more than half that of the preceding year, Pennsylvania paid more than was paid by more than half of the states of the Union combined.

Pennsylvania paid more than all the citizens of Alabama, Alaska, Arizona, Arkansas, Connecticut, Colorado, Delaware, Hawaii, Idaho, Maine, Mississippi, Montana, Nebraska, Nevada, New Hampshire, New Mexico, North Dakota, Oklahoma, Oregon, South Carolina, South Dakota, Tennessee, Utah, Vermont, Washington, West Virginia, Wyoming and the Philippine Islands.

The 3rd internal revenue district, comprising the western section of Pennsylvania, alone paid $76,701,754 as internal revenue from all sources. Although this amount was a reduction of 88 per cent from 1932, this district's tax contribution in 1935 was exceeded only by the states of California, Illinois, Massachusetts, Michigan, New Jersey, New York, North Carolina, Ohio and Oklahoma.

When to these totals is added the amount Pennsylvanians pay in state, county and municipal taxes, the aggregate becomes prodigious, entitling the payors to the best that can be provided in government of all kinds.

THE HORIZON.

The horizon where water and sky seem to meet:
Fascinated the lad as he sat at my feet.
And he asked—and the question is carefully fair—
"Would you come to the sky if you ventured out there?"

Time was the horizon held me in that
"Yes," I said, "I would sit up on the bay
And sail to that line in the distance, and be
For a moment in touch with the sky and the sea."

But I've learned the horizon moves back as you go.
That never the end of our dreaming will know.
That beyond every goal which we covet
and gain
There still shines in the distance a goal to attain.

So I said to the boy: "Could you go there today
You would find that the sky had never farther away.
And that this we call vision—a word in our speech
Which stands for a goal which we never quite reach."

"Life's broad horizon keeps moving away.
Tomorrow's stands there on the edge of today.
And always beyond what we've fought for and won,
Lies a goal in the distance still luring us on."

SCOTSDALE TEAM DIVIDES LABOR DAY WITH MEADVILLE

Special to The Courier.

SCOTSDALE, Sept. 4.—Meadville defeated Scottdale at Aviation Field Monday morning by a score of 3-1, in 10 innings. The visitors got two home runs, driving them both down over the right field wall. Up to the 10th inning the score was 1-1, when Stout hit a home run with one man on base.

Five double plays were made, three by Scottdale and two by the visitors. The afternoon game was called in the sixth inning on account of rain, the score being 11-2 in favor of Scottdale. Scottdale made two double plays and the visitors one.

Golf Club Is Oldest

America's oldest golf club will celebrate its thirty-fifth birthday, next November.

The club is the St. Andrews, a few miles above Newburg, N. Y., where a six-hole course was opened away back in 1887.

The first club house was a table which sat at the first, two and the furnishings comprised two tubs of ice water. Later on a tent was used.

Nowadays no club is satisfied unless it has spacious lawns, a big veranda, luxurious furnishings and a couple of professionals hanging around. It is safe to say that the initiation fee was less than that it is now.

SLICING BIG FAULT MANY FAIL TO MEND

Trouble Arises From Several Different Causes.

Slicing is the bane of golfing existence for thousands upon thousands of golfers.

It is really surprising how large a percentage never overcomes the fault. The harder they try, the worse many of them get.

The fault arises from several different causes. Probably in the majority of instances it is derived from the habit of pulling in the arms just as the ball is struck. That, in turn, is due to the fact that so many golfers are leaning backward as they complete their stroke.

Nine times out of 10 the reason is that they are not well balanced at any stage of the stroke. The chances are that they are standing with legs too stiff at the start of the backswing so that when they try to pivot they merely straighten out the left leg and almost pull it off the ground in their endeavor to get the body around.

This, in itself, is enough to almost throw them completely off balance, the body can't get much of a turn, and practically all the weight remains on the right leg from start to finish of the stroke.

Then as a rule the right arm goes out from the body and they bring it in as it comes down on the ball. This means coming across the ball from right to left and imparting a spin which sends the ball to the right.

That left leg must not be stiff and straight on the backswing.

American "Tinplate King's"
$40,000,000 Watched By All
Europe At Princess' Death

YOUNG LEEDS, AS HE LOOKED WHEN HE FLEW FROM CHERBOURG TO ATHENS TO HIS MOTHER'S BEDSIDE TWO YEARS AGO. INSET: MRS. WM. B. LEEDS, JR. AND PRINCESS ANASTASIA

LONDON—Princess Anastasia's $40,000,000 the estate left her by her former husband, William B. Leeds, the Cleveland "tinplate king," will not pass into the hands of the Greek royal house, to rebuild their tottering fortunes according to the Princess' will. Several years ago the American "dollar princess" squelched reports that her dollars were used to finance the attempt to replace King Constantine on the Greek throne. She declared her interest upon a trust fund created by Mr. Leeds, would pass to her son, married to Princess Xenia, Constantine's niece, and to their children, but would cease with the third generation.

It has a cast of thirty real stars and in addition fifty screen celebrities appear in its scenes, in support roles.

Friday and Saturday, Walter Hiers will appear in "Sixty Cents An Hour."

The Arcade

The opening attraction at the Arcade Theatre for the week of September 3 will be the musical comedy, "Vacation Days" with a cast of 18 people. The principal funmakers with this attraction are Jack W. Burke and Patti Joyce, two clever fellows that are right up to the minute. In addition the company boasts of some very clever vaudeville artists among whom are Harry Noller, the human spider, Clarence Maurer, the boy who sings to beat the band, Gortrud Howell who styles herself

Little Miss Novelty. During the run of the show Jack Burke will add zest to the entertainment with his numerous tricks in magic. Although the bill consists of many vaudeville specialties they are not of the sort to tire one, but are to the contrary short and snappy thus leaving plenty of time for the singing and dancing of the charming soubrette, Mabel Lorraine; not forgetting her pals, the snappy singing and dancing chorus of eight pretty girls.

The picture offering will be something out of the ordinary for the first half of the week. "The Zero Hour," with an all star cast should prove to be more than a word while picture. The management of the Arcade Theatre has decided upon a new policy of only two performances daily, which policy should make a decided hit with the patrons of the Arcade.

A Talk With A C'ville Man

S. Moser, Proprietor Barber Shop, 105 E. Crawford Ave., Tells of an Interesting Experience.

There is nothing like a talk with one of our own citizens for giving hope and encouragement to the anxious sufferer from the dread kidney disease. We, therefore, give here an interview with a Connellsville man.

"I have been in the barber business for twenty-five years and the constant standing caused my back to ache," says Mr. Moser. "When I bent over my back was stiff and lame and it was hard work for me to stand at the barber chair for nine hours. My kidneys were far from right, being rather sluggish. I used Doan's Kidney Pills and they gave me instant relief. The backache ceased and my kidneys were put in line. I am now a happy man and have had no further trouble. I know Doan's are absolutely all right."

OUT OF JUICE

"Here, boy," said the wealthy motorist, "I want some gasoline, and please get a move on! You'll never get anywhere in the world unless you push. Push is essential. When I was young I pushed and that got me where I am."

"Well, gov-nor," replied the boy, "I reckon you'll have to push again, 'cause we ain't got a drop of gas in the place."—Black and Blue Jay (John Hopkins).

Among the Animals

"Were you a bear or a bull in the market?" "Neither," replied Mr. Dustin Stutz. "I was one of those wise old foxes who kept out of it."—Washington Star.

"How did you find things in Egypt?" "Slow, slow. There's enough stone-work laid up in them pyramids to build a city."

"What's this?" "The Venus de Milo. Milo must be the Italian for milk and. It is evidently a ruminant, as you see."

POPULAR DUTCH COLONIAL

Copyright, 1935—Architects' Small House Service Bureau.

Plan No. 6A25.

Here is a dignified home—economical to build—designed in the Colonial style and planned to meet every modern need. It is one of those fortunate designs suitable for almost any locality, and it also is adapted to either suburban or country conditions.

The house will require a 50-foot lot. By utilizing the porch, it can be placed on a 45-foot lot. Six good rooms, a bath, and sun porch are provided in this house, besides numerous conveniences that make the home unusually comfortable.

This is what is known as the Central Hall type. By placing the stairs in the center of the house, it permits corner bedrooms, which thereby receive light, air and sunshine from two sides.

A splendid living room extends the full depth of the house, and is dominated by a handsome brick fireplace. A glazed French door leads from the living room to the sun porch.

The kitchen has two windows to provide light, ventilation and adequate ventilation. This room is small, but planned to minimize steps and basement housework.

Three good bedrooms, each with a closet, bath, built-in medicine cabinet, and linen closet, in the hall, complete the second floor plan.

The house is of frame construction, brick chimney, shingle roof, sided walls. In the house illustration here, the owner has placed a garage beneath the sun porch.

The cost to erect this home complete, including lighting, plumbing, ready to live in, but not including the garage and driveway, will range between $6,000 and $7,500, depending upon equipment and location.

The plans for small homes are furnished by the National Bureau of the Architects' Small House Service Bureau of the United States, Inc., controlled by the American Institute of Architects, Inc., and the American Institute of Architects, Inc. The plans are based on general averages for the entire country. The United States Bureau of Census has indicated that the average family of four persons requires a house of about 1,000 square feet. The plans for this house are designed to meet the needs of a family of four persons. The plans are designed to be built in any locality, and are adapted to either suburban or country conditions. ## LABORATORY SILK NOW RIVALS FABRICS OF ORIENTAL LOOMS

LABORATORY SILK

Scientific water softening, absolute control of temperature, and cold emulsification without strain are required to produce properly and still retain the strength and lasting quality of cellulose silk. Mr. Fitch pointed out. "Artificial silk has greater lustre than the silk produced by the worm, but it is less elastic. Laundering methods suitable for natural silk will not always do for artificial. Our latest dry research fellowship at the Mellon Institute has worked out formulas which solve the problem. "Artificial silk has been a boon to women since it permits them to have daily changes and scores of other things at all, at a moderate price. At the last national silk show, every manufacturer in America save caused the cellulose silk in their display. In 1922 70,000,000 pounds of artificial silk was made in this country as against 68,000,000 pounds of natural silk which entered the market. "American women through the ingenuity of the laboratory are now able to wear as beautiful fabrics as the silks of far Japan, which is the home of the silk worm. And thanks to our leading laboratories, this manufactured silk can be washed as easily as the natural silk. It is the working out of methods such as this which have attracted the eyes of the world to the American Institute of Laundering, which is the laboratory workshop of the Laundrywomen's National Association.

KIEL CANAL TO BE OPEN TO ALL

Important Cases Under Consideration by World Court.

HELPED TO WORLD POSITION

One of the most significant indexes to the changes that the World War brought to the Kiel canal case under consideration by the world court at The Hague. The clauses of the treaty of Versailles the action was brought to keep the waterway open to all ships of nations with which Germany is at peace even when they carry war materials.

A bulletin just issued from the Washington headquarters of the National Geographic Society deals with this canal which in effect more than doubled the strength of the German navy, and which proved Germany managed as she chose.

Canal Helped to World Position.

It was really by removing the mud and stones from the bed of the Kiel canal—or the Kaiser Wilhelm canal, to give it its official name—that the German empire dug its way into its cherished world position and appeared as a great world power. On the Baltic, "Prussia had the vision of this most important waterway before the late empire or anything that could be considered a modern German political entity existed. Prussia did not own a square foot of territory on the North sea. The Baltic was her only outlet. She had no navy; and Denmark stood across her path, a real naval power. On the North sea were the Grand Duchy of Oldenburg, the Kingdom of Hanover and some smaller principalities.

The first step toward the future canal was taken in 1852 when Prussia purchased from Oldenburg an area of marshland on the North sea near the mouth of the river. On this low, muddy site soon rose the made-to-order city of Wilhelmshaven which was to become the second greatest German war-harbor and the greatest German naval base on the North sea. The jealousies of the pre-imperial days are well shown by the refusal of Hanover to permit the building of a railway to the site, which necessitated the slow transportation of all materials by water around Denmark.

The land through which to construct the canal and the Baltic base, Kiel came to Prussia in 1890 by conquest. As a result of the Prussian-Danish war. Two years later, Hanover, which had refused co-operation, was defeated by arms and incorporated into Prussia. But the canal was not built then nor even after the German empire was established in 1871. For the big navy idea had hardly been born.

Only the idea of naval competition with Great Britain grew; and it was probably with a pretty clear idea of what a North sea-Baltic canal would mean to the naval life of Germany that the modern German empire's first ruler, Kaiser Wilhelm I, initiated at the breaking of ground in 1887. The next year Wilhelm II came to the throne, and before long was not only pushing the canal to completion but was feverishly building up the navy in the service of which the waterway was to have its chief function.

Multiplying Navy by Two. "When the emperor formally opened the Kiel canal in 1896 he practically multiplied his navy by two. From the heavily fortified great naval base and shipbuilding center at Kiel—the solar plexus of the German navy—fighting ships could slip quietly in a few hours through German territory to the North sea, for the German equivalent of a light or a freighter. The island of Heligoland, too, had been acquired from Great Britain in 1890 and was heavily fortified, forming the great light into which the canal, the Weser, and the Elbe opened and on which Wilhelmshaven was situated, into a huge German naval preserve.

The Kiel canal and the German navy went hand in hand before the World War. Mutually dependent on one another. The dimensions of the channel were ample for warships of the pre-Dreadnought type, but when Great Britain began building battleships of too great size to traverse the waterway and Germany considered it imperative to follow with equally powerful vessels, there was nothing to do, if the navy was to remain efficiently mobile, but to widen and deepen the canal. This was undertaken in 1908 and by 1912 the width had been increased from 80 feet to 140 feet at the bottom. Ten feet was added to the depth, making it 48 feet.

Her huge, improved canal was the keystone of Germany's naval strategy during the World War. Shielded by Heligoland, she could secretly shift her naval strength to the Baltic as long as that was desirable, or concentrating the great weight of her floating batteries in the North sea when protection of offshore against Great Britain was necessary.

Kiel, at the Baltic end of the 60-mile-long canal, has a commodious, deep harbor which is considered one of the best havens in Europe.

HUGE SECTION LAKE OF LAVA FORMED IN KILAUEA

Pit of Halemaumau is Sheet of Fire 1,000 Feet Long by 1,450 Feet Wide.

The entire pit of Halemaumau in the center of Kilauea, in Hawaii, is now a sheet of molten lava, the largest pool of lava ever seen there, according to reports received from Dr. Thomas A. Jaggar, Jr., volcanologist in charge of the volcano observatory.

Doctor Jaggar reports that the several small pits and lakes of lava have combined into a single lake, which occupies the entire area of the bottom of the pit now nearly two miles in circumference. The lava fountain of lava issues from the southeastern end of the pit, and some of the lava flows make the western rim uninhabitable.

The report of Doctor Jaggar says in part:

"During the past month, Halemaumau, the great pit, has produced the largest lava lake of modern times ever seen. This came about through a union of several separated pools that occupied the bottom of the pit in May. The wells perforating red-hot substances under these pools have begun to gush, the separating lava-masses and lava pools have overflowed and no small ponds are now distinguishable.

"Except for a narrow border edge at the liquid level, the whole pit is occupied by an immense sheet of fiery lava. The last island has disappeared and the lake is nearly 1,000 feet long by 1,450 feet wide.

"Always the main upward gushing is at the southeastern source, where a circular pond was defined last May. Now there is a hot bubbling and bright zigzag lines within widely between hissing and flaming steam patches, moving out across the center of the pit and right and left to where a darker crust forms with fower and straighter lines.

"Here the big fountains assert themselves, breaking and spouting the crust with jets and puffs of violet flame and brown fume, and these dash violently against the walls of the crater. The leeward side of the pit should be avoided at present.

HER ACTOR, "PET" COSTLY

Woman, Whose Husband Cost $20,000 in Four Years, Dies.

Speaking of costly pets, (As Mrs. Anita A. Lawrence Pett, twenty-four years old, did in Circuit court at Chicago, she said her pet, in this case her husband, William Henry Pett, was quite too expensive.

"My husband cost me $20,000 the first year of our marriage, and $40,000 the three years after that," she explained. "He was an actor before our marriage, but after the wedding he induced me to put $10,000 into his theatrical account with him. Immediately he quit work and began drawing on the account."

When she refused to support him any longer he deserted her. The court indicated she would be granted a decree of divorce.

JUMBO

"The Shingle that Never Curles"

The big size of Carey Jumbo Shingles affords these advantages:

1. The shingles are laid with a 5 inch exposure which gives three thicknesses over entire roof.
2. In addition to the larger surface of the Jumbo Shingle they are 23 per cent thicker. This creates stronger shadow effects between joints and at the butts, adding to the beauty of the roof.
3. They are laid much faster than ordinary shingles with a saving of over 33 1/2% in nails and labor.
4. Being made by the same process as the non-curling Asfaltate Shingles, Jumbo Shingles will not curl—and being thicker will last even longer. We have them surfaced in red, green and blue-black crushed slate. The best shingles money can buy.

Suffering of a Quarter Century Quickly Relieved by Nerv-Worth

West Virginian Tells Interesting Story.

"I suffered 25 years with stomach trouble and nervousness," said L. E. Ferguson, Route 2, Clarkstown, W. Va. in a letter written some time ago and he continued, "I had pains in my stomach, back and side and my circulation was poor. I put no sleep and was as tired in the morning when I awoke as when I went to bed. I became restless and dependent. I had lost my appetite and spent lots of money, but my food would not digest."

and I was always full of gases. Since taking Nerv-Worth, my condition is a great deal better in every way. I am feeling good, sleeping fine, my food digests, and the gases are gone. My whole general condition is much improved and I certainly recommend Nerv-Worth to my friends. If it's stomach trouble you have, the above statement proves to you that Nerv-Worth is the medicine you want. Remember if your first bottle is not satisfactory, your druggist is not satisfied. Your druggist is authorized to refund your money. Sold by all druggists, but my food would not digest."
